

Continuing Professional Development Specialist Training Event

Diploma level training in Animal Assisted Therapy

Led by: Joanna Beazley Richards and John Baxendale

Monday 11 to Friday 15 March 2019 (9.30 to 4.30)

This specialist training, along with written and practical work, leads to the award of a Wealden College Diploma in Animal Assisted Therapy. It is open to trainees who have gained the Wealden College Introductory Certificate in Animal Assisted Therapy. This is a five day training compressed into four longer than usual days plus an evening.

This training will take place mainly at Wealden Institute farm, and will explore the use of animals in therapeutic work. Participants will work alongside the Institute's animals during experiential exercises. The training will cover the theory and practice of animal assisted therapy and its widespread use with a range of clients. The use of Transactional Analysis theory will be addressed during the course of the training
